Meaning of the design on the front cover

The Spirit of Youth

Indonesia with over 17,500 islands, over 1,300 ethnic groups and more than 700 dialects is considered as one of the most diversified countries in the world. As an archipelago between continents and trade routes, the mix of influences creates a unique blend of cultures of this Nusantara, the Sanskrit term that describes Indonesia.

One interesting cultural-form is the storytelling method using wayang (shadow) in various forms. In Java and Bali, stories told in wayang could have strong influences from two different sources, the Indian Hindu (the epic of Ramayana and Mahabharata) and Chinese legend (Sih Jin Kwee), but these stories then assimilated with local wisdoms (and thus also, the characters), which, in turn, create a very different meaning from their original sources.

The cover of this booklet shows one of the characters of Balinese wayang story taken from (Javanese and Balinese) Mahabharata epic; he is Arjuna. In Mahabharata, there are two fighting sides, the Pandawa and the Kurawa. Pandawa consists of 5 brothers, the sons of Pandu (symbolizing the good side), while Kurawa is the 100 sons of Destrarata (symbolizing the bad side), the brother of Pandu. Among the 5 Pandawas, Arjuna is well known for his expertise in archery and a lot of other martial arts, even he could defeat the enemies of the gods while the latter were defeated. That is why he has another name, Bambang Permadi, which means a young man with extremely high capabilities. He is also well known for his capabilities in dance and painting. He is always seen as someone highly fluent in diplomacy and very articulate. And yet, with such fluency and sophistication, he is also seen as young in spirit. That is why he has another name, Janaka, means humorous. It is told that during their difficult times being cast away to the forest for 12 years, Arjuna was the one who could entertain his brothers and mother with his dance, songs and humors.

As the future leaders, it is our wish that the APEC Voices of the Future delegates can take the spirit of Arjuna: fluent, sophisticated, articulate, capable, artistic, creative, strong in character, fun, humorous, and yet full of the Spirit of the Youth.

The APEC Voices Program

The APEC Voices of the Future is an annual program which allows special teams of young people and educators from the 21 APEC Economies to attend the APEC Summit.

By working and learning together, the APEC Voices' teams share their views on the APEC vision with APEC Leaders, Senior Officials, ABAC Members and CEOs.

Through their participation in the APEC process, APEC Voices delegates are given the rare opportunity to have some of the most important dialogues with top policymakers to foster cooperation and prosperity in the classrooms and communities of the Asia-Pacific Region.

This year's APEC Voices of the Future Program will be held in Bali, Indonesia, in conjunction with the APEC CEO Summit 2013.

MINISTER OF TRADE OF THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA

Message

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Nusa Dua, Bali, for the 2013 Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Leaders' Week. This week's events will mark the conclusion of the Indonesian host year for APEC, which has proven to be immensely productive for credible APEC deliverables that sustain a resilient Asia-Pacific region that serves as the engine of global growth, and I am delighted to know you will be on hand as members of the Voices of the Future 2013 delegation.

Indonesia highly values the importance of Voices of the Future as an annual program since 1998 that promotes students and educators from the 21 APEC Economies to work, learn and share your views on the vision of APEC with the leaders of APEC and promotes a global view in today's global economy. Your inclusion into the APEC process both adds to the organization as a whole and helps foster a new generation of leaders that are dedicated to free trade and investment in the Asia-Pacific region.

APEC has been an important forum that supports open and rules based trading systems, building upon the confidence to move together on opening up and reforms whether unilaterally, regionally or multilaterally. APEC has always recognized the importance of complementing the economic integration with capacity building. The world around acknowledges the role APEC has played in taking both collective and individual actions to address the economic challenges of modern time. This year, APEC will center on the theme of "Resilient Asia-Pacific, Engine of Global Growth." There is no doubt that the Asia-Pacific region is now the center of economic and strategic importance for the global economy – and to maintain this position we must focus on fundamentals. It's APEC's call to action towards a vision of an Asia-Pacific region that is stronger, more buoyant and more robust, and remains resilient to fulfill the role as the engine of the world's economic growth.

It is the time for your generation to take up the responsibility of promoting a stronger regional economy among the APEC member nations. I believe through the bonds forged between delegates from the different economies during APEC week the Voices of the Future delegates will grow to be connected leaders of tomorrow, who will be well-placed to cooperate to create a better world, much in line with the goals of APEC.

This event is a great opportunity for you all as future leaders, and hopefully all of you have enjoyable and rewarding experiences to be more successful in the future.

Gita Irawan Wirjawan
Minister of Trade, Indonesia

Om Swastyastu (May the God Almighty Bless Us All)

I sincerely appreciate the trust of the international community to hold such an important event in Bali. This privilege surely will promote the image of Bali Island not just as the world tourist destination but also as a suitable place for meeting purposes.

Message

Almost twenty years ago, APEC leaders met in Bogor, Indonesia, and adopted a set of targeted goals for the region to reach free and open trade and investment for member economies by 2020. We have come a long way since then. Tariffs have fallen from 17% in 1989, when APEC was formed, to 5.7% in 2011.

But as APEC Leaders gather in Bali, Indonesia, this week, we face many new challenges. As tariffs come down, we are focusing on next generation trade issues. These include behind-the-border barriers such as structural and regulatory obstacles in individual economies and regional gaps in institutional, physical and people-to-people connectivity.

The world is also a different place. Emerging economies in the Asia-Pacific region have risen in the past twenty years to become resilient engines of global growth. Women are key economic drivers and we are striving to promote greater inclusiveness in the work place. Sustainable development has also become increasingly important as we balance economic growth. Information technology and e-commerce are rapidly redefining international trade as we know it.

One day you will take our place and you will no doubt face new and different challenges. As our future leaders, we invite you to join us this week to participate, share your ideas and help us solve today and tomorrow's challenges.

The APEC Voices of the Future offers an opportunity for you to engage in this dialogue with key policymakers and business leaders in one of the most dynamic regions in the world. The APEC Secretariat welcomes your voice and active participation this week. We look forward to your continued involvement in the years to come.

Executive Director, APEC Secretariat

APEC CEO SUMMIT INDONESIA 2013

Message

Dear Delegates of APEC Voices of the Future,

I extend a very warm welcome to you, our future leaders.

The APEC CEO Summit this year is focused on building a stronger and more secure future for the people and businesses of the region. Our theme – "Towards Resilience and Growth: Reshaping Priorities for Global Economy" – encourages speakers and participants to take a world view as we chart the course ahead for the region. We will have the largest ever line-up of APEC Leaders sharing their views, top CEOs in lively panels arguing their case for change and respected thought leaders bringing us new insights.

As the representatives of youth from across the APEC region, you have the biggest stake in our future and a responsibility to make yourselves heard. In the spirit of APEC Voices of the Future, I encourage you to be bold in communicating your priorities about the way forward – in your own meetings, in your discussions with ABAC members and in interviews with business leaders.

I know that for many of you, this will be your first trip to Bali. I hope that you will also take some of your program time to connect with the wonderful people of this island and to experience their rich culture.

My colleagues and I look forward to meeting you in Bali and hearing about your aspirations.

Sampai jumpa!

Chair, APEC Business Advisory Council 2013
Chair, APEC CEO Summit 2013

Background on APEC Voices Leadership Council

The annual APEC Voices of the Future Program is primarily governed by the APEC Voices Leadership Council, which consists of the four permanent Co-Chairs from the APEC Economies of People's Republic of China, Mexico, New Zealand and Singapore, who are joined by the ex-officio Co-Chairs from the Host Economy and the Virtual Trade Mission (VTM) Foundation International. The Co-Chairs are ABAC Members, senior business leaders and educators, while the APEC Voices Secretariat is in Singapore, hosted by the Singapore Voices Program in association with the National Youth Achievement Award Council of Singapore.

It is the hope of the APEC Voices Leadership Council that the annual APEC Voices of the Future Program continues as an independent and self-sustaining youth leadership and educational diplomacy Program within the APEC process. Up to this time, the APEC Voices of the Future Program is funded solely by the respective Voices programs and participating delegations from each APEC economy, and every member of the APEC Voices Leadership Council serves as a volunteer, receiving no compensation.

Cooperation and Coordination with APEC and ABAC

The annual APEC Voices program is organised and operated in cooperation and coordination with the APEC Secretariat, the ABAC Chair and ABAC Host Committee, the Official APEC Host Committee, and the APEC CEO Summit. Following the principles of consensus and flexibility which guide APEC, each year the APEC Voices Leadership Team works with all these offices and officials to plan the annual APEC Voices program in the way that works best for the APEC Host Economy and the supporting organisations, events and venues, which provide the APEC-engaged learning experiences for our students and educators.

History of the APEC Voices Programs

The APEC Voices was launched in Kuala Lumpur in 1998 at the APEC Malaysia Summit.

Since then, the APEC Voices program has been further expanded and enriched by the APEC Host Committees, ABAC Chairs and ABAC Members, and the APEC CEO Summits in New Zealand (1999), Brunei (2000), Mexico (2002), Chile (2004), Korea (2005), Vietnam (2006), Australia (2007), Peru (2008), Singapore (2009), Japan (2010), Honolulu, USA (2011), and Vladivostok, Russia (2012).

The APEC Voices Leadership Council and its permanent Co-Chairs were first organised in the APEC New Zealand of 1999, and grew with the addition of the official Voices programs in the APEC Economies of China, Mexico and Singapore.

In 2005, New Zealand Voices inaugurated the first mid-year preparatory Voices program for all interested New Zealand students and educators, inviting visiting Voices delegations as well. Mexico Voices also expanded its annual preparatory calendar and joined in the Kiwi mid-year schedule.

In 2007, China Voices inaugurated the most extensive preparatory program to date, which has been implemented in more than 100 campuses throughout the vast APEC Economy.

Later in 2008, during the APEC Voices program in Peru, the planning for the APEC Voices program and Secretariat in Singapore began, in coordination and in cooperation with Singapore Voices and Singapore's APEC Host Year.

In 2009, over 120 delegates attended the annual APEC Voices Programs in Singapore from 9 to 15 November 2009. Main topics of discussion were the current issues affecting the APEC Economies such as economic recovery, support for multilateral trading systems, and regional economic integration.

In 2010, over 100 delegates from 17 APEC Economies participated in the APEC Voices Program in Yokohama, Japan, from 8 to 14 November 2010. APEC Voices delegates were given the opportunity to meet and interact with APEC Leaders, Ministers and business leaders during the APEC week.

In 2011, more than 120 APEC Voices delegates attended the APEC Voices Programs in Honolulu from 7 to 13 November 2012. One of the highlights of the event was a dialogue with H.E. Francisco J Sanchez, Under Secretary of Commerce for International Trade, U.S. Department of Commerce. Delegates also discussed security issues in the Pacific Rim with Admiral Patrick Walsh, Commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet. Such platforms provided the youth delegates with an overview of the various issues faced by the region and how youth leaders can play a role in finding solutions for these issues.

In 2012, the APEC Voices Leadership Council sent a small group of 25 APEC Voices Representatives from 16 APEC Member Economies to Vladivostok, Russia, from 2 to 9 September 2012. The APEC Voices delegates were invited by the Russian Host Committee to engage APEC Leaders, Ministers and business leaders during the APEC CEO Summit. It was an enriching experience for many youth leaders who were in Russia for the first time.

This year, the APEC Voices 2013 will be held in Bali, Indonesia, from 2 to 8 October 2013. More than 130 APEC Voices delegates are expected to attend the program. The APEC Voices Leadership Council, with the strong support of the APEC 2013 Host Committee and ABAC Indonesia, has developed a program that not only focuses on the economic issues but also gives the delegates the opportunity to experience the rich culture and tradition that Bali has to offer.

Organisations behind the APEC Voices 2013

National Youth Achievement Award (NYAA) Council, Singapore

The National Youth Achievement Award (NYAA) Council seeks to develop and maximize the potential of young people through selfless community service, challenges of adventure, skills development and physicial recreation so that they may be exceptional individuals who can contribute effectively to society and the nation.

Currently, more than 262,000 young people in Singapore are participating in the NYAA's youth development program.

The NYAA Council Singapore plays a significant role in hosting the APEC Voices Secretariat and helping to organise the APEC Voices Programme in Bali, Indonesia.

Virtual Trade Mission Foundation (VTM) International

Based in Washington DC, the Virtual Trade Mission Foundation International has played a prominent role in the annual APEC Voices conference since 1996.

VTM's focus is to foster education and communication among students, educators, business leaders and the media on the United States' involvement in the "New Global Economy".

Through VTM, the "APEC Voices of the Future" programme was implemented. VTM invites students from APEC Member Economies to participate in the annual APEC CEO Summit and APEC Business Advisory Council (ABAC) meetings. Students conduct interviews, visit trading facilities, and interact with one another, in realisation of VTM's purpose, which is to expose students to a variety of cultures as well as to create knowledgeable "citizen diplomats" from the APEC Economies.

B N I

Serving the Country, the Pride of the Nation

The Indonesian government has launched a commitment to reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions by 26% by 2020 through domestic efforts and an additional 15% through international support. In response to this commitment, BNI has implemented various strategic steps in the program to reduce carbon emissions, both in business and non-business approaches.

As one of the dominant banks in Indonesia, BNI achieved sustainability through the provision of professional banking services, as well as shaping an added value for all stakeholders. Sustainability for BNI is at the level where the success as a business entity is no longer measured only by generating profits but also includes our roles in social, community, and environmental protection.

Environmental issues, especially climate change, have become a global challenge. Climate change has a significant negative impact. Extreme weather conditions can affect all aspects of life. Climate change and extreme weather can cause numerous losses, ranging from crop failures, floods, and droughts. If no immediate action is taken, this condition can lead to hunger, social issues and stalled economies. In one form of mitigation of climate change, over the last four years, BNI has been cooperating with various parties and has been planting trees in almost all regions of Indonesia with a total reaching 3.6 million trees. In order to improve the quality of the environment in urban areas, BNI has also built an urban forest or "Hutan Kota" and city parks in various cities in Indonesia. Anticipating the energy crisis, BNI supported the renewable energy program by financing a mini hydro project, biogas, biomass and also allocating CSR funding to develop pico hydro and micro hydro at remote areas.

BNI plays an active role in the economic development and welfare of the community with the goal of creating economic and community development especially for micro, small businesses and cooperatives, with the aim that these relevant business groups are able to present sound and strong economic strengths and be able to access larger markets. BNI achieved this through the concept of "Kampoeng BNI," which is a regional community empowerment program with the cluster concept to optimize program effectiveness. BNI provides a soft loans partnership program as well as supports training people in the area. The empowerment program is expected to have a profound effect on the improvement of people's lives particularly around Kampoeng BNI.

INDONESIA

About Indonesia

Indonesia, officially the Republic of Indonesia, is a sovereign state in Southeast Asia. Indonesia is an archipelago comprising approximately 17.508 islands. It encompasses 34 provinces with over 238 million people, making it the world's fourth most populous country.

The nation's capital city is Jakarta. The country shares land borders with Papua New Guinea, East Timor, and Malaysia. Other neighboring countries include Singapore, Philippines, Australia, Palau, and the Indian territory of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands. Indonesia is a founding member of ASEAN and a member of the G-20 major economies. The Indonesian economy is the world's 16th largest by nominal GDP.

Indonesia consists of hundreds of distinct native ethnic and linguistic groups. The largest – and politically dominant – ethnic group are the Javanese. A shared identity has developed, defined by a national language, ethnic diversity, religious pluralism within a majority Muslim population, and a history of colonialism and rebellion against it. Indonesia's national motto, "Bhinneka Tunggal Ika" ("Unity in Diversity" literally, "many, yet one"), articulates the diversity that shapes the country. Despite its large population and densely populated regions, Indonesia has vast areas of wilderness that support the world's second highest level of biodiversity. The country has abundant natural resources, yet poverty remains widespread.

About Bali

Bali is one of the thousands of islands that together constitute the Republic of Indonesia. Because of its unique features, Bali has become a primary destination for tourists from all over the world, who have chosen to travel to the Asian tropics. Unlike most of Muslim-majority Indonesia, about 93.18% of Bali's population adheres to Balinese Hinduism, formed as a combination of existing local beliefs and Hindu influences from mainland Southeast Asia and South Asia. Minority religions include Islam (4.79%), Christianity (1.38%), and Buddhism (0.64%). These official statistical figures do not include immigrants from other parts of Indonesia.

A Place Like No Other

Bali is like no other destination in the world. Its rich culture plays out at all levels of life, from the exquisite flower-petal offerings placed everywhere to the processions of joyfully garbed locals, shutting down major roads as they march to one of the myriad temple ceremonies, to the other-worldly traditional music and dance performed island-wide.

Bali's Essence

Yes, Bali has beaches, surfing, diving and resorts great and small, but it's the essence of Bali – and the Balinese – that makes it so much more than just a fun-in-the-sun retreat. It is possible to take the cliché of the smiling Balinese too far, but in reality, the inhabitants of this small island are indeed a generous, genuinely warm people. There's also a fun, sly sense of humour behind the smiles. Upon seeing a bald tourist, many locals exclaim 'bung ujan', which means today's rain is cancelled – it's their way of saying that the hairless head is like a clear sky.

One Island, Many DestinatIons

On Bali you can lose yourself in the chaos of Kuta or the sybaritic pleasures of Seminyak and Kerobokan, surf wild beaches in the south or just hang-out on Nusa Lembongan. You can go family friendly in Sanur or savour a lavish getaway on the Bukit Peninsula. Ubud is the heart of Bali, a place where the spirit and culture of the island are most accessible. It shares the island's most beautiful rice fields and ancient monuments with east and west Bali. The middle of Bali is dominated by the dramatic volcanoes of the central mountains and hillside temples such as Pura Luhur Batukau (one of the island's 20,000). North and west Bali are thinly populated but have diving and surfing that make any journey worthwhile.

Bali has a climate that is tropical all year. The average temperature hovers around 30 degrees Celsius year-round. There are dry and wet seasons - dry from April to September and wet from October to March - but it can rain at any time of year and even during the wet season rain is likely to pass quickly. In general May to August are the best months in Bali. At that time of year the climate is likely to be cooler and the rains lightest. Bali has eight districts collectively called Kabupatens, which comprise of Badung, Bangli, Buleleng, Gianyar, Jembrana, Karangasem, Klungkung, and Tabanan. Among all these districts, Badung is the most famous and highly populated one, with Despansar as its capital.

Nusa Dua

From the start, Nusa Dua was designed to be an 'all-inclusive' type of tourist destination. It is known as an enclave of large international 5-star resorts in southeastern Bali. It is located 40 kilometres from Denpasar, the provincial capital of Bali, and administered under Kuta South District. Nusa Dua means two islands.

Tanjung Benoa

The Peninsula of Tanjung Benoa has the village of Benoa in the foreground and Nusa Dua in the background. Immediately north of Nusa Dua enclave is the peninsula of Tanjung Benoa that includes less exclusive hotels and Benoa village.

Benoa Port is also located here for yachts and small ships previously, but in December 2012 became Benoa Cruise International Terminal of turnaround port to serve both embarkation and debarkation of cruise passengers. As turnaround port, tourists can arrive by plane and leave by a cruise ship or conversely.

Ubud

If you're looking for peace and quiet, then Ubud is the place to be. Steeped in culture and enhanced by magnificent vistas, Ubud offers a respite from the humdrum of your busy life. In the past, Ubud was just a small village, but now it has grown into a thriving yet laid back cosmopolitan community. Ubud pampers visitors' bodies and souls. Fine dining restaurants and spas here will delight and relax the senses. A walk through the lush paddy fields or watching colourful processions of women gracefully balancing piles of fruit offerings on their way to the temple are lasting impressions and simply breathtaking.

In this town, you can visit the temples and villages that have remained relatively unchanged through the years. Art galleries are also abundant. Masterful paintings and sculptures are waiting to be admired and appreciated, for who knows, you may find the perfect painting or statue to grace your own living room.

This region is steeped in history and culture. Many remains from the old kingdoms of Bali can be found here, and unique arts and crafts are just waiting to be discovered. Known for its tranquillity, Ubud offers several natural retreats. The lush, green views and cool atmosphere make morning and afternoon strolls most pleasant.

It's no surprise that many people come to Ubud for a day or two and end up staying longer, drawn in by the culture and activities offered. Ubud is where famed Elizabeth Gilbert found peace and her love as written in her bestselling memoir Eat, Pray, Love, which is now a film featuring Julia Roberts. Indonesia's own celebrity Christine Hakim plays Wayan, the local alternative healer.

Kuta

Once a sleepy village with a quiet, beautiful sweep of beach, Kuta today has become a popular beach destination in its own right, alive with tourists from all over the world, swimming, surfing or sunbathing by the beach. Others, casually dressed in shorts, T-shirts and flip-flops, stroll along its main road, shopping around or enjoying meals at its many open air restaurants. When in Kuta you know that you are in a holiday town, and people here are in a holiday mood.

On the beach, people enjoy parasailing, banana boat trips or swimming. Women offer traditional Indonesian massages on the beach, others are seen plaiting hair.

Before sunset, crowds rush to the beach waiting to watch Kuta's legendary sunsets. Then as darkness falls, Kuta's nightlife starts to throb with loud music from bars and restaurants, while shops stay open till late at night. Kuta's main attraction is that everyone can enjoy the town without any prescribed dress code. Many famous international bands and celebrities have voluntarily played and sung here enlivening the fun, dance and music scene of Kuta. One poignant reminder, however, of the tragedy that befell Kuta is a monument located next to the present Paddy's café. The monument was erected in memory of those killed during the fatal October 2002 bomb terrorist blasts. The blasts killed more than 300 people, mostly Australian tourists and Indonesian workers.

Main Attractions in Bali

Kecak Dance

Kecak was originally a trance ritual accompanied by a male chorus. In the 1930s, the German painter and musician Walter Spies took a deep interest in the ritual while he was living in Bali. He then worked together with Balinese dancer Wayan Limbak to recreate it into a drama, combining themes and movements from the traditional Sanghyang exorcism rituals with portions of the Hindu epic, Ramayana. The intention was to create a dance that was both authentic to Balinese traditions, yet appealing to Western audiences. Wayan Limbak later toured the globe with a troupe of Balinese performers, thus popularizing the dance and making it famous throughout the world.

Kamasan Village

Kamasan is famous for its community of Balinese traditional painting artists. The originality, authenticity, and longtime development resulted in a separate style of Balinese paintings which is called Kamasan Style. Although the materials that are used to paint have undergone evolution, the theme of the paintings is still the same, about wayang (Balinese puppet) characters. Actually, this village's artists not only paint well, but also create other art like gold and silver sculpting and the latest popular art, bullet sculpting.

The wayang characters who are usually used for the theme of the paintings are the characters from Ramayana and Mahabharata epics or Arjuna Wiwaha and Suthasoma stories. As a result, the paintings and sculptures from Kamasan are rich in original traditional and historical values, and its integrity is still maintained until now. According to international collectors, Kamasan painting style is still pure, mild, and sophisticated but with less unnecessary details and is also very bold in the message of the story. Those wayang-centered paintings and sculptures actually attract the artists and tourists to come to this village.

Kertha Gosa

Kertha Gosa (Courts of Justice) is a tourist attraction which is famous for its ceiling paintings. This place also uses the wayang painting style like Kamasan. However, the paintings of the Kerta Gosa have undergone numerous changes. They had to be restored after the devastating earthquake in 1917 and then repainted during the 1930s by Pan Sekan, a master artist from the nearby village of Kamasan.

Rondji Restaurant

Rondji Restaurant is a part of the Blanco Renaissance Museum located in the charming village of Ubud in Bali, Indonesia, and should be enjoyed along with the great works of the maestro Don Antonio Blanco.

The Rondji Restaurant serves as an excellent companion for the magnificence of the museum. Inside the restaurant, there is an all-round soothing view of the beautiful greenery. The restaurant is in a modern yet colonial style and offers casual fine dining with delicacies from all over the world while highlighting distinct Balinese flavors as well.

Don Antonio Blanco was known for his always lively, spirited and artistic work which he rarely sold, and he is considered synonymous with Bali. He wanted to give people the opportunity to admire and enjoy all his work, and he fulfilled his dream by founding the Blanco Renaissance Museum in Ubud in 1999.

The Blanco Renaissance Museum boasts a beautiful, lush garden with many rare birds such as cockatoos and parrots and a fountain, the works of Don Antonio Blanco, and a gift shop. All of the features of the museum were built for the convenience and enjoyment of visitors. Don Antonio Blanco later decided to establish a restaurant as a part of the museum to make it even more convenient for visitors during their time at the Blanco Renaissance Museum.

In addition to wanting to cater to the needs of visitors, Don Antonio Blanco also established the Rondji Restaurant because he wanted to share his wife Ni Rondji's cooking. The food served at Rondji Restaurant may appear high class, but Don Antonio Blanco made sure that prices would be controlled so everyone could enjoy the food. He also made it a point to incorporate European tastes, influenced by French and Italian cuisine, as well as tastes of Asia, making special use of the flavors and aromas of Balinese cuisine, so that no matter where a visitor to the museum and restaurant came from, they would be able to have a taste of the familiar with something new as well.

The Blanco Renaissance Museum honors Don Antonio Blanco and his work, and the Rondji Restaurant aptly named for his wife honors Ni Rondji. More importantly, together, the museum and restaurant symbolizes and celebrates the couple Don Antonio Blanco and Ni Rondji.

Dos and Don'ts

Entering a Temple

DO wear a Sarong or long clothes when entering a temple – The Balinese are very serious about their spirituality, so please be respectful.	DON'T enter a temple when you're having your woman period – also if you have an open wound you shouldn't enter.

Mind the Head

DO wear a helmet when driving a scooter – Both for protection and to avoid getting stopped by the police. Insider tip: Wearing an "udeng" (The traditional Balinese headwear) exempts you from wearing a helmet.	DON'T touch people's heads – That goes for kids too, even if they are really cute. The head is considered the most sacred part of the human body.

Shopping

DO haggle in markets and street shops - Humor and a smile can get you a long way. That goes for bargaining too.	DON'T haggle too hard or for the fun of it – Be polite. 5000 rupiah probably won't make much of a difference to you, but it might to the seller.

Watch your Feet

DO take off your shoes when entering a home or temple. Helpful tip: Whenever you see a row of flip flops outside a building, you should take off yours too before entering.	DON'T touch or point at someone with your feet – It is considered rude.

Giving and Receiving

DO use both hands when giving or receiving - It is a compliment to use both hands when you give or receive things like money or a business card.	DON'T hand something over with your left hand – It is considered impolite. Use both hands.

Driving

DO honk the horn shortly when overtaking - It is a common way to let other people know you are passing.	DON'T hold the horn down – Being aggressive in traffic is frowned upon everywhere, even more so in Bali.

Getting Attention

DO wave with your palm facing down – When asking someone to come by, stretch your hand out, palm down and move your fingers toward yourself.	DON'T point with your index finger - That is considered offensive. Use the entire hand if you want to point out something.

Drinking Water

DO drink bottled water - Bali is hot all year around and you don't want to dehydrate.	DON'T drink tap water – It does not taste good and will almost certainly give you stomach problems.

When Invited to Dinner

DO make room for a second serving – you will most likely be asked for one and it will be impolite to reject.	DON'T empty your plate – Leave a little food as an offering to the gods and to let the host know you had enough to eat.

The June Mayne Gould Leadership Award for APEC Voices of the Future

June Mayne Gould began her Asia Pacific journey in Golden Square, Bendigo, Australia, in 1919. She was the second child of a family grown from two generations of miners, who worked in the Australian gold mines, and teachers, who came to help build the schools and churches in this booming town that helped build the State of Victoria.

Growing up in Port Melbourne, June soon found she had the call of the sea in her heart and trained for surf lifesaving, receiving many certificates and awards for her achievement. All these and more led her to travel in Oceania and the greater Asia Pacific as an adult, settling in Long Beach, California, a major port town alike Melbourne, to raise her family.

Although June did not have a formal education herself, due to the lack of family finances and the onset of the second World War, the home schooling and mentoring she received from her grandmother, aunt and mother, who were all top teachers in their towns, made her a keen observer of world events and a constant and vigorous encourager of all those around her to do their best. She was always happy to help people in need. Throughout her 30 plus years as a retail manager in the States, June mentored many young female executives who, like her, rose through the ranks of the large department store chain they worked for.

June's generosity in letting her son, Noel Gould, Founding Member and Co-chair, APEC Voices Leadership Council, use a good portion of her modest retirement savings to help develop the Voices of the Future for APEC helped establish the program's first years in Malaysia (1998), New Zealand (1999) and Brunei (2000). Thanks to the financial contribution of June, the Voices of the Future for APEC has grown from strength to strength and is known today as APEC Voices of the Future.

The June Mayne Gould Leadership Award for the APEC Voices of the Future, which was launched at the APEC Voices 2011 in Honolulu, is named in honour of June Mayne Gould for her immense contributions in the development of youth leaders in the 21 APEC Member Economies and will be presented annually to an outstanding student who has demonstrated sincere, positive, encouraging, helpful character and leadership throughout the APEC Voices Week, greatly contributing to the program by helping other students do their best and get the most out of their APEC experience.

The recipient of the June Mayne Gould Leadership Award will receive an APEC Voices Scholarship to the following year's APEC Voices program, where the award winner will serve as a junior staff member to the APEC Secretariat Team leading the APEC Voices Week.

All award winners will be recorded on a special commemorative plaque placed at the APEC Voices Secretariat, which is based at the National Youth Achievement Award Council of Singapore.
